About Founder Maria DiLorenzo

A Dallas, TX native based in Boston, MA, Maria has been a wardrobe consultant and personal stylist for over 15 years. She educates and guides those who seek to make a stronger connection between their self-presentation and self-love. Maria fervently believes how we dress says something deeper about how we feel about our own value and self-worth, and with her intuitive styling approach, she has helped hundreds transform into the best version of themselves by leveraging their wardrobe to reflect this insight. With a focus on sustainable fashion practices, Maria's expertise is in re-imagining wardrobes to help people maximize what they already own by creating new combinations and alternative functions for those items. Her mission is to help others develop a confident, authentic signature style while breathing life into an existing wardrobe.
